EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

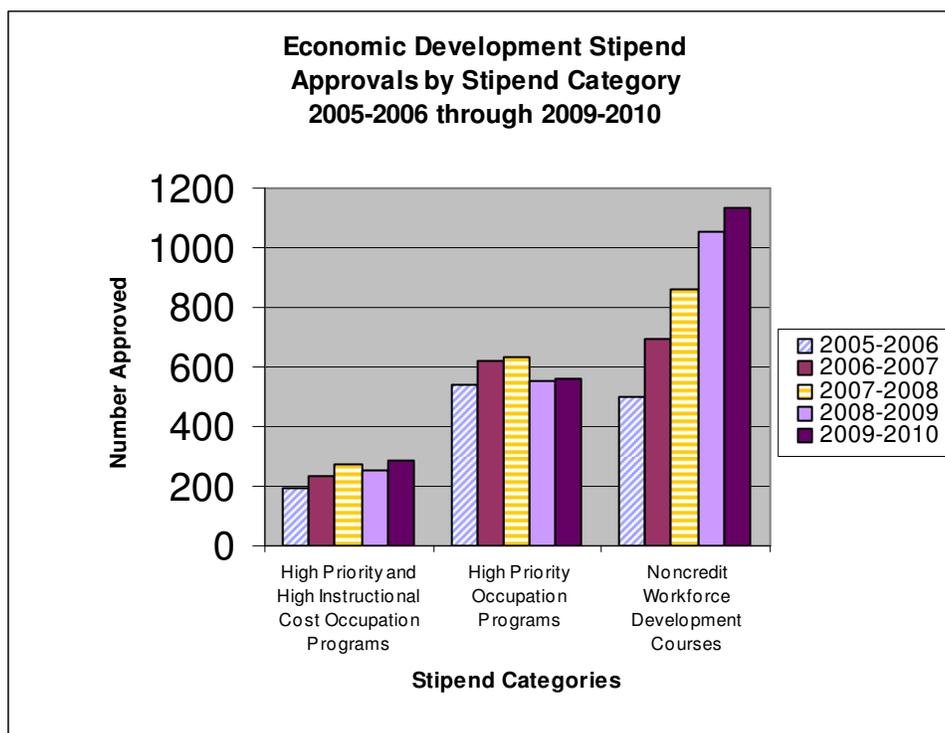

This report is prepared annually by the Department of Education to inform the committees of education in the House of Representatives and the Senate of community college programs and courses approved for stipend funding. This report reflects the fifth year of funding provided for the community colleges by Act 46 of 2005.

The focus of the Economic Development Stipend is program/course alignment with High Priority Occupations. Therefore, all approved credit programs and noncredit courses are aligned with High Priority Occupations identified annually by the Department of Labor and Industry or are designed to meet regional workforce needs and approved by the Department of Education. The following report includes the established Economic Development Stipend criteria and guidelines, as well as a listing of credit programs and noncredit courses approved for the Economic Development Stipend for 2009-2010, which are listed in Appendices A, B and C. Table 1, found on page 81, summarizes the number of programs and courses approved by each college. A summary of approvals by Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) may be found in Table 2, beginning on page 82. A complete list of Pennsylvania's 2009 High Priority Occupations may be accessed at www.paworkforce.state.pa.us.

Stipend Approvals:

The chart below illustrates the number of programs and noncredit courses approved over the previous five years and includes:

- 291 High Priority and High Instructional Cost Occupation Programs approved in 2009-2010, an increase of 47.9% since 2005-2006.
- 563 High Priority Occupation Programs approved in 2009-2010, an increase of 3.1% since 2005-2006.
- 1,133 Noncredit Workforce Development Courses approved in 2009-2010, an increase of more than 125% since 2005-2006.

Credit Programs:

A total of 854 community college for-credit programs that prepare students for 99 high priority occupations are approved for stipend funding. The following list includes the ten occupations that have the greatest number of programs approved for High Priority and High Instructional Cost Occupation or High Priority Occupation Program stipend funding. There are 305 programs, or 36.1% of all approved for-credit programs, approved for stipend funding in the following ten occupations:

SOC Code	Occupation	Number of Approved Programs
15-1071	Network and Computer Systems Administrators	46
39-9011	Child Care Workers	39
15-1041	Computer Support Specialists	37
43-3031	Bookkeeping, Accounting and Audit Clerks	36
43-6014	Secretaries	30
17-3013	Mechanical Drafters	26
19-4021	Biological Technicians	24
15-1051	Computer System Analysts	23
27-1024	Graphic Designers	22
31-9092	Medical Assistants	21

Noncredit Courses:

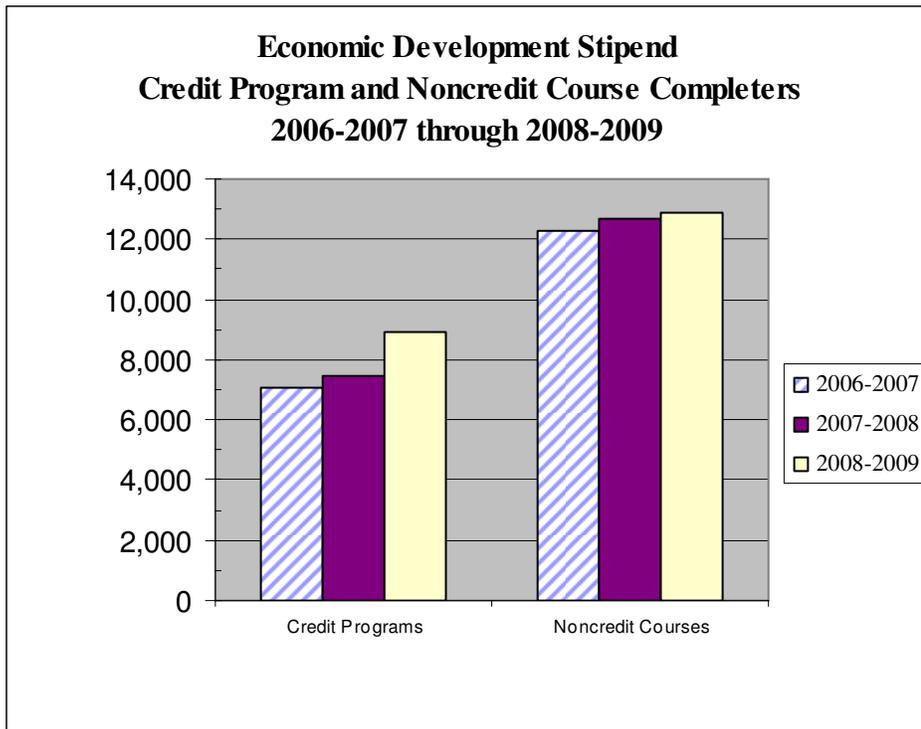

The community colleges also provide noncredit opportunities for students and incumbent workers to develop or upgrade skills necessary in high priority occupations. A total of 1,133 noncredit workforce development courses, associated with 74 high priority occupations, are offered by the colleges and approved for stipend funding. The following list includes the ten occupations that are aligned with the greatest number of noncredit workforce development courses and represent 46.9% of the noncredit courses approved for stipend funding:

SOC Code	Occupation	Number of Approved Courses
49-9041	Industrial Machinery Mechanics	127
15-1071	Network and Computer Systems Administrators	61
31-1012	Nursing Aides, Orderlies and Attendants	52
43-9061	Office Clerks, General	49
51-4121	Welders, Cutters, Solderers and Brazers	48
29-2041	Emergency Medical Technicians and Paramedics	44
43-6013	Medical Secretaries	42
43-6014	Secretaries	37
15-1021	Computer Programmers	35
15-1041	Computer Support Specialists	35

Completers:

The colleges reported significant numbers of completers in the Economic Development Stipend programs and courses during the 2009-2010 academic year. The chart below illustrates the number of students who completed their credit programs or noncredit courses during the previous three fiscal years and includes:

- In 2008-2009, 7,052 students completed an approved High Priority and High Instructional Cost Occupation program or a High Priority Occupation program, a decrease of 5.48% over 2007-2008.
- In 2008-2009, 12,857 students completed at least one approved Noncredit Workforce Development Course, an increase of 0.5% over 2007-2008.

Credit Completers:

More than 8,904 students were reported completing credit programs with an Associate Degree, Certificate or Diploma during fiscal year 2008-2009. The Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations area had the most students completing a program for the second year in a row with a total of 2,462 students. The top five occupational areas, based on highest number of completers, are clustered in the following occupational areas; by major SOC group:

Major SOC Group	Occupation	Number of Completers
29-0000	Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations	2,462
43-0000	Office and Administrative Support Occupations	1,200
33-0000	Protective Service Occupations	492
15-0000	Computer and Mathematical Occupations	387
39-0000	Personal Care and Service Occupations	380

Noncredit Course Completers:

On the noncredit side, 12,857 students completed an approved Noncredit Workforce Development Course during 2008-2009. The Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations area had the most students completing courses for the third year with 5,402 students. The 5,402 students completing courses in this occupational group was an increase of 24% over the 4,342 students who completed courses in 2007-2008. The occupational areas with the highest number of students completing Noncredit Workforce Development Courses are listed by major SOC group as follows:

Major SOC Group	Occupation	Number of Completers
29-0000	Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations	5,402
31-0000	Healthcare Support Occupations	3,666
49-0000	Installation, Maintenance and Repair Occupations	762
43-0000	Office and Administrative Support Occupations	662
15-0000	Computer and Mathematical Occupations	628

INTRODUCTION

Act 173 of 1974 first established additional state support to community colleges for full-time equivalent (FTE) students enrolled in approved occupational-technical programs. In order to implement this new stipend program, the Department appointed a committee of representatives from the colleges, the Pennsylvania Commission for Community Colleges and the Offices of Postsecondary and Higher Education and Elementary and Secondary Education. The committee developed the criteria to be used in determining which occupational-technical program review requests would be approved for stipend support for the colleges' new and enhanced occupational-technical programs, as well as to make recommendations to the Secretary of Education regarding stipend eligibility.

In July 1985, Act 31 of 1985 was enacted, altering the structure of the occupational-technical stipend. Rather than a uniform stipend level for all approved occupational-technical programs, the new law established a variable stipend, featuring a three-tiered reimbursement scheme. The act required the Secretary of Education to establish criteria to identify programs eligible for each level of funding support.

Since the variable stipend was, in essence, an extension of the existing occupational stipend program for community colleges, the Secretary of Education, in consultation with the Pennsylvania Commission for Community Colleges, determined that the existing processes for evaluating occupational programs would be revamped and extended to assist with the implementation of the new law. Therefore, the committee, which had reviewed and approved all community college occupational programs for stipend funding, met in mid-August 1985 to review the statute and make recommendations to the Secretary on the criteria and procedures for the amended program's implementation. A line of communication was established to exchange suggestions among the Department of Education, community college presidents, the Pennsylvania Commission for Community Colleges and the ad hoc committee. Based on these exchanges among all stakeholders, the committee made final recommendations to the Secretary and revised criteria were established.

Article XIX-A of Act 46 of 2005 was enacted in July 2005, establishing a new funding system and stipend scheme. The Economic Development Stipend focuses on the Commonwealth's High Priority Occupations, as well as occupations that are of regional importance and those identified by employer partnerships. The Economic Development Stipend is distributed to all of the community colleges based on the number of FTE students they have in for-credit programs and noncredit courses approved for the Economic Development Stipend. The formula gives the most weight – and funding – to for-credit High Priority Occupation programs that also have high instructional cost. The second most funding goes to for-credit High Priority Occupation programs that are not high cost. And the lesser level of funding goes to Noncredit Workforce Development Courses that provide valuable training for high priority occupations, but do not allow students to earn credit towards a degree.

The Department worked closely with the community colleges and the Department of Labor and Industry to develop the Economic Development Stipend criteria and an application process to identify for-credit programs and noncredit courses that prepare students for high priority occupations that began on or after January 1, 2006. The collaborative process between these two Commonwealth agencies ensures a seamless alignment of community college credit and noncredit programming with Job Ready Pennsylvania and the development of a workforce with higher levels of education and marketable credentials in high-wage, high-demand occupations.

Criteria for Approval of High Priority Occupation Programs

Definitions:

CIP-2000 – The 2000 edition of the Classification of Instructional Programs, a taxonomic coding scheme of instructional programs.

High Instructional Cost Program – A program that bears an instructional cost to the community college, per full-time-equivalent student, of at least 130% of the average cost per full-time-equivalent student enrolled in the community college's credit courses.

High Priority Occupations – Occupations annually identified by the Department of Labor and Industry through a three step process involving industry cluster analysis, occupational data analysis and expert input and regional factors to identify emerging occupations. Additional occupations may be added based on differences and dynamics in regional and local labor markets.

Occupation – Occupational title assigned under the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system for the given occupational code. In some instances, this may be abbreviated or changed slightly from the official SOC title in order to better reflect nuances in occupational demand.

Occupational or technical program – Educational programs offering a sequence of courses, which are directly related to the preparation of individuals for paid employment in current or emerging occupations.

SOC Code – Six-digit numerical code assigned to the occupation under the system. The SOC system classifies all occupations found in the economy, including private, public, and military, and allows data to be compared across all governmental agencies.

Criteria:

Each program must meet all of the criteria listed in this section.

1. The program must be in compliance with Pennsylvania statutes, regulations and policies relating to community colleges.
2. Each occupational or technical program must prepare graduates for a High Priority Occupation identified by the Department of Labor and Industry on the annual High Priority Occupation list or be approved by the Department of Education through the Regional Workforce Application.
3. Each program shall be a credit-based program and shall be identified with an accepted Classification of Instructional Program (CIP) – 2000 edition code.
4. Each program (minimum of 15 credit hours) shall involve a planned coherent sequence of courses that leads to a formal college award.
5. Each program description shall have a statement of objectives that will be printed in the college catalog. The statement must clearly indicate that the program is designed for job placement incorporating employment-related job skills and knowledge, and have an occupational objective that is consistent with gainful employment opportunities (as opposed to volunteer) available at the local, regional or state level. The description must indicate that the program is primarily occupational and include an occupational title assigned under the SOC system.
6. Each program shall be designed in such a way that all college-level requirements, including college-level requirements for admission to the program or for courses within the program, can be completed in two calendar years (24 months) or less when pursued by a full-time student or longer if the program is specifically designated as one to be completed only on a part-time basis.

Criteria for Approval of Noncredit Workforce Development Courses

Definitions:

High Priority Occupations - Occupations annually identified by the Department of Labor and Industry through a three step process involving industry cluster analysis, occupational data analysis and expert input and regional factors to identify emerging occupations. Additional occupations may be added based on differences and dynamics in regional and local labor markets.

Noncredit Workforce Development Courses - Noncredit courses approved by the Department of Education to qualify for an economic development stipend and having the specific purpose of providing opportunities for students and incumbent workers to develop or upgrade skills necessary in high priority occupations.

SOC Code – Six-digit numerical code assigned to the occupation under the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system. The SOC system classifies all occupations found in the economy, including private, public, and military, and allows data to be compared across all governmental agencies.

Occupation – Occupational title assigned under the SOC system for the given occupational code. In some instances, this may be abbreviated or changed slightly from the official SOC title in order to better reflect nuances in occupational demand.

Criteria:

Noncredit Workforce Development courses must meet all of the following criteria:

1. The course must be in compliance with Pennsylvania statutes, regulations and policies relating to community colleges.
2. The course has the specific purpose of providing opportunities for students and incumbent workers to develop or upgrade skills necessary for high priority occupations and is identified with an accepted SOC occupation and code.
3. Upon successful completion, the course leads to a formal recognition that has established credibility with businesses and other hiring agencies.
4. Each course must be identified with an occupational objective and prepare students for a High Priority Occupations identified by the Department of Labor and Industry on the annual High Priority Occupation list or be approved by the Department of Education through the Regional Workforce Application.
5. The length of the course must encompass a minimum of 30 clock hours and be consistent with occupational industry standards and occupational objectives of the course. Noncredit courses are not intended to be an avenue for avoidance of the approval process or substitution for programs leading to a formal college award. Therefore, no single course may require more than 15 equated credits to be eligible as a noncredit workforce development course. Courses that meet published industry standards, but fall outside the acceptable range in length, will be considered on a course-by-course basis and applied to all of the colleges. Published industry standards must accompany application. (Note: Each 15 hours of classroom work and each 30 hours of laboratory work shall be equated to one semester credit – 22 Pa. Code § 35.61(c))

The following noncredit courses are excluded from consideration for Noncredit Workforce Development course eligibility:

- Adult basic education or adult literacy courses, including English as a Second Language.
- Occupational skills courses that do not meet the criteria as a Noncredit Workforce Development Course.
- Academic courses.
- Continuing professional education courses.

Calculation of Instructional Costs of High Priority and High Instructional Cost Occupation Programs

A. BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE

An Economic Development Stipend for-Credit Program that meets all the criteria for eligibility as a High Priority Occupational Program and bears an average instructional cost per equivalent full-time student (EFTS) of at least 130% of the average instructional cost per full-time equivalent student applicable to students enrolled in all for credit courses (excluding courses associated exclusively with high cost programs) will be classified as a High Priority and High Instructional Cost program for the purposes of reimbursement from the Commonwealth. The purpose of the calculation is to determine the eligibility of High Priority Occupational Programs for designation as High Priority and High Instructional Cost Economic Development Stipend Programs. One (1) EFTS in High Priority and High Instructional Cost Economic Development Stipend Programs will be counted as 1.5 EFTS' for the reimbursement purposes.

B. DIRECT BUDGETED INSTRUCTIONAL COSTS CATEGORIES

For purposes of calculating the instructional cost of a potentially high cost program, a community college should include budgeted direct instructional expenditures for all activities that are part of the program. Likewise, for purposes of calculating the average instructional cost per student for its for-credit programs, a community college should include the same categories of costs, with the exception that it should exclude costs associated with those courses that are unique to a high cost program, as well as the credit hours produced in high cost programs.

Note: The Budgeted data will be used in the calculation.

Specifically, the instructional costs shall include the following categories:

1. Personnel Compensation

This category includes those costs (salaries, wages and fringe benefits) budgeted during the fiscal year for full-time and part-time faculty and other instructional administration and support personnel including, but not limited to, teaching assistants, lab assistants, tutors and independently contracted instructors. These costs do not include those costs associated with administrative support personnel or other general administrative personnel.

2. Instructional Supplies

This category includes budgeted Classroom and Laboratory Materials and Supplies.

3. Academic/Instructional Equipment

This category includes the annual budgeted depreciable cost of equipment in support of credit instruction.

C. EQUIVALENT FULL-TIME STUDENTS ENROLLMENTS

For the purpose of these calculations only, both the Total Annual Credit Hour Production (net of credits generated in high cost programs) and Program Specific Annual Credit Hour Production will be converted to full-time equivalency as follows:

$$\text{Annual Credit Hour Production divided by 24} = \text{One (1) EFTS}$$

For the purpose of the 2009-10 calculation, the annualized 2008-2009 enrollment will be used.
