

Johnson College

Program Title: General Education Program Advisory Committee

Goals/Objectives: To make certain that the general education courses prepare our graduates for the workplace.

Description:

- I. Introductions
  - A. Introduction of general education faculty
  - B. Review of current coursework for all technical and clinical majors (Handouts give to all participants.)
- II. Discussion – All Program Advisory Committee members discuss current course offerings in general education lead by their chairperson.
- III. Consultation– All general education chairpersons meet with each technical/clinical Program Advisory Committee to answer any questions regarding the general education course offerings.
- IV. Vote – All Program Advisory Committee members are asked to vote for what coursework is most appropriate for each of the technical/clinical majors. This content is then tabulated and submitted to the Vice President for Academics for his review and recommendations.
- V. Decision – The Vice President consults with the general education chairs to make a decision on what general education course to offer for each major.

Evaluation Tools & Procedures:

The Program Advisory Committee members cite industry credentials and other certifications needed for Johnson College students to be employable and capable of progressing to positions of leadership in the workplace.

Results of Activity:

This yearly activity allows the college to stay up-to-date with the workplace environment by insuring that our general education courses are most appropriate and applicable for all technical/clinical majors on the campus.

Resources and Other Related Information:

Most of the Program Advisory Committee members have websites that are a wealth of information regarding all of the majors offered by Johnson College and the services provided by each in their own technical/clinical workplace.
