PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy manual is to present the practices and procedures used to ensure continuity among the institutions authorized to conduct occupational competency assessments of prospective career and technical education instructors.

INTRODUCTION

In the 1920s, institutions offering approved career and technical education teacher preparation programs began assessing the technical occupational competencies of prospective candidates who were being recruited and certificated as secondary public school career and technical education teachers. Occupational competency at that time was determined by a combination of documented work experience that included length of time and type of experience and successful completion of a written and a skill performance test. Initially, three or four candidates per year were examined to teach in three or four occupational areas such as cabinetmaking, machine shop, electrical wiring, and drafting. Since then, the number of candidates and course offerings has increased to the extent that the occupational competencies of over 300 candidates are assessed each year in Pennsylvania, and career and technical certification is available in over 100 occupational competency areas.

Members of the Pennsylvania Occupational Competency Assessment (OCA) Consortium, which includes the Center coordinators from each of the institutions administering the program (Indiana University of Pennsylvania, The Pennsylvania State University, and Temple University); the State OCA Coordinator, the staffs of the Bureau of Career and Technical Education and the Bureau of School Leadership & Teacher Quality; and members of the Pennsylvania Association of Career and Technical Administrators contribute to the revisions of the policy manual.

These activities are funded, in part, by basic funding from state and federal sources and in part by tuition and various cost recovery fees from the candidates, including the occupational competency assessment fee. (See page 8 for the current schedule of occupational competency assessment fees.)

Supplemental or Project Funding

Additional funding from state and federal sources may be available to Institutional Test Centers and other entities on a project approval basis for developing, validating, and revising occupational competency examinations; coordinating the use of standardized national examinations; reviewing, analyzing, and reporting scoring procedures and examination results; and conducting proctor workshops.

Guidelines for Committee Evaluation

A. The professionals selected to be on the evaluation committee must have demonstrated competency through teaching or work experience in the area tested and if appropriate, hold credentials in the area to be evaluated.

B. The committee should be comprised of no less than three members (to break any tie votes) and no more than five members. Each evaluation committee should have:

One (1) career and technical instructor certified in the area to be tested.
One (1) person from the specific industry or trade related to the area.
One (1) person from a university or training institute specific to the industry or trade area. If this person is not available, a second specific tradesperson will be used.

C. The Institutional Test Center Coordinator is not a voting member of the committee, but the Institutional Test Center Coordinator will work with the committee to facilitate the candidate evaluation.

D. The Institutional Test Center Coordinator, evaluation committee, and candidate should be provided with a private conference or meeting room. The location should be away from the mainstream of traffic. To avoid interruptions, post “Testing in Progress” signs and alert staff to hold all calls and messages for the Institutional Test Center Coordinator, committee members, and candidate (unless an emergency). The lighting, seating and temperature should be controlled. The candidate evaluation may be recorded on an audio tape provided by the candidate.

E. Once the committee has been identified and accepts the responsibility of reviewing the candidate, the candidate should be notified to appear on a specific date, time, and location via USPS mail. The candidate is also given the Candidate Information Form which describes the testing procedures, scope of questions, and scoring process.

F. Pre-Candidate Evaluation

1. The committee will convene approximately 30-45 minutes before the arrival of the candidate. During this time, introductions are made and the complete evaluation process is presented to the committee by the Institutional Test Center Coordinator.

2. Following the orientation, each member of the committee is presented with a complete folder of the candidate’s documents for review. Committee members will also be given the Test Item Bank at which time they will select questions to be asked of the candidate.

G. Candidate Evaluation

1. When the committee members are prepared, the candidate is brought into the room and introduced to each member of the committee.

2. The candidate is requested to introduce him/herself by explaining a little about themselves and their interest in teaching in the field for which they are being evaluated.
3. Once the candidate has completed his/her introduction, a member of the committee is selected at random by the Institutional Test Center Coordinator to begin the questioning period. Typically, each member of the committee will take a turn and then defer the questioning to another member.

4. During the questioning, the Institutional Test Center Coordinator is present but does not participate in the questioning process. The primary role of the coordinator is to maintain the decorum of the evaluation meeting.

5. The Institutional Test Center Coordinator is responsible for maintaining a balance of questions from each examiner as well as maintaining a sense of clarity for the candidate. To insure uniformity throughout the Centers, all questions asked must be from the Test Item Bank. During the candidate evaluation, the committee members will record the rating of the candidate’s responses and indicate his/her weaknesses on the Evaluator's Worksheet.

6. The candidate’s needs must be monitored at all times. At times when the candidate is unsure of a question, a request for clarification of the question can come from the candidate or Institutional Test Center Coordinator. The candidate’s lack of preparedness for any segment of the test should be recorded by the Institutional Test Center Coordinator for counseling purposes.

H. Post-Candidate Evaluation

1. When the questioning has ended, the candidate is asked to leave. He/she is instructed that the results of this evaluation will be sent in the mail within two weeks. The committee then individually completes the Summation Evaluation Form.

2. After the Summation Evaluation Forms are completed, the committee will work together on the Final Decision Recording Form. On this form, the committee will collectively write down three strengths and three weaknesses of the candidate, give a final rating, and based on that rating, check the pass or fail box. All committee members including the Institutional Test Center Coordinator will sign and date the form.

3. The candidate will be notified promptly, in writing, of the results of the test. If the candidate passes the test, he/she will be instructed in the next steps to certification. In the event of a fail decision by the committee, the areas of weakness as identified by the review committee will be delineated in the results provided. The Institutional Test Center Coordinator will refer to section 8 – Retest Candidates, under Responsibilities of Institutional Test Center Coordinator for retest procedures.
In accordance with the Occupational Competency Assessment (OCA) Policy Manual, the Institutional Test Center Coordinator may honor requests for a retest after the failing candidates have been advised of their weaknesses. Candidates will be eligible to retest no earlier than three months from the previous test or prior to the completion of additional work experience and/or verified study of 250 hours for first failure and 500 hours for second failure.

An Institutional Test Center Coordinator may alter this requirement by adding more hours if they feel it is imperative to the success of the candidate. A third assessment must be approved by the OCA consortium. An Institutional Test Center Coordinator may not honor a request for a third assessment without approval from the OCA consortium. To that end this Professional Improvement Plan has been developed.
