Introduction

Act 173 of 1974 first established additional state support to community colleges for full-time equivalent students enrolled in approved occupational-technical programs. In order to implement this new stipend program, PDE appointed a committee of representatives from the community colleges, the Pennsylvania Commission for Community Colleges, PDE's Office of Postsecondary and Higher Education, and PDE's Office of Elementary and Secondary Education. The committee developed the criteria to be used in determining which occupational-technical program review requests would be approved for stipend support for the colleges' new and enhanced occupational-technical programs, as well as to make recommendations to the Secretary of Education regarding stipend eligibility.

In July 1985, Act 31 of 1985 was enacted which altered the structure of the occupational-technical stipend. Rather than a uniform stipend level for all approved occupational-technical programs, the law established a variable stipend, featuring a three-tiered reimbursement structure. The act required the Secretary of Education to establish criteria to identify programs eligible for each level of funding support.

Since the variable stipend was, in essence, an extension of the existing occupational stipend program for community colleges, the Secretary of Education, in consultation with the Pennsylvania Commission for Community Colleges, determined that the existing processes for evaluating occupational programs would be revised and extended to assist with the implementation of the new law. The committee, which had reviewed and approved all community college occupational programs for stipend funding, reviewed the statute and made recommendations to the Secretary on the criteria and procedures for the amended program's implementation.

Article XIX-A of Act 46 of 2005 was enacted in July 2005, establishing a new funding system and stipend program. The Economic Development Stipend (EDS) focuses on the Commonwealth's High Priority Occupations, as well as occupations that are of regional importance and those identified by employer partnerships. The EDS is distributed to all of the community colleges based on the number of full-time equivalent students enrolled in for-credit programs and noncredit courses approved by PDE. The formula gives the most weight – and funding – to for-credit programs that prepare students for high priority occupations and have high instructional cost. The second highest weight is applied to for-credit high priority occupation programs that are not high cost. And the lesser level of funding goes to noncredit workforce development courses that provides valuable training for high priority occupations, but do not allow students to earn credit towards a degree.

PDE worked closely with the community colleges and the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry to develop the EDS criteria and an application process to identify for-credit programs and noncredit courses that prepare students for high priority occupations that began on or after Jan. 1, 2006. The collaborative process between these two commonwealth agencies ensures a seamless alignment of community college credit and noncredit programming, and the development of a workforce with higher levels of education and marketable credentials in high-wage, high-demand occupations.

This report is prepared annually by the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE). The purpose of the report is to inform the committees of education in the House of Representatives and the Senate of community college programs and courses approved for the Economic Development Stipend (EDS). This report reflects the approvals for the 2013-2014 fiscal year.

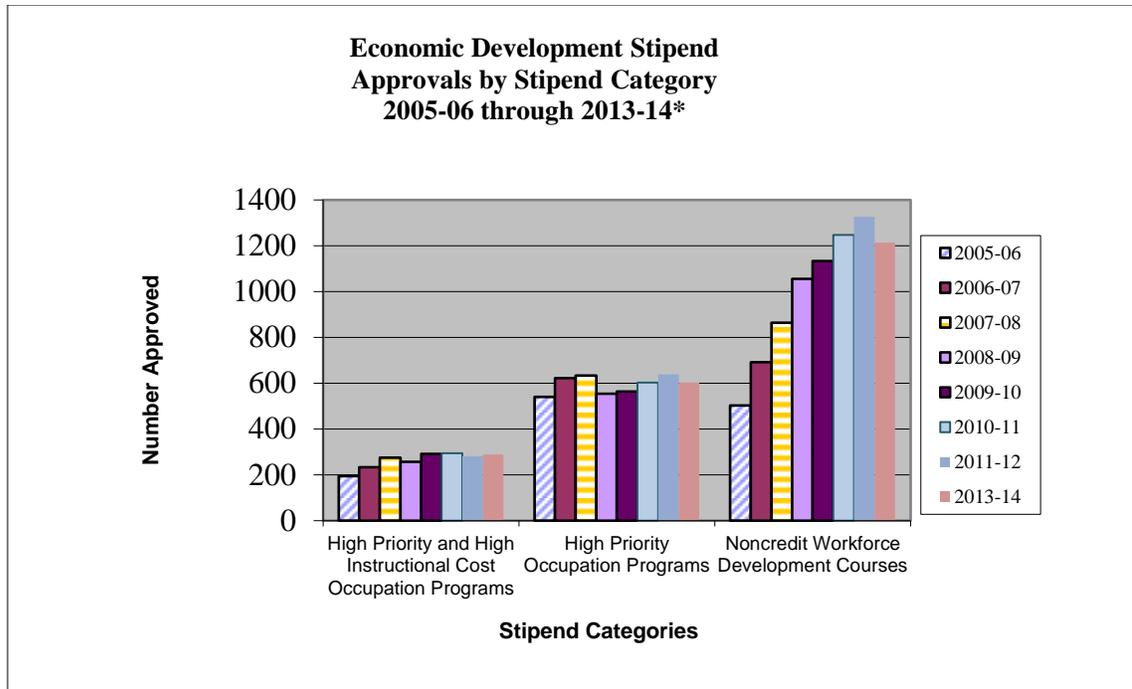

The purpose of the EDS is to promote program/course alignment with High Priority Occupations (HPO). Approval is granted by meeting one of two criteria: a) Credit programs and noncredit courses align with HPOs in the college's Workforce Investment Area (WIA); or b) Credit programs and noncredit courses are designed to meet regional workforce needs and are approved by PDE. This report includes the established EDS criteria and guidelines, as well as a listing of credit programs and noncredit courses approved for the EDS for 2013-14 (Appendices A, B and C). Table 1, found on page 125, summarizes the number of programs and courses approved by each college. A summary of approvals by Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) may be found in Table 2, beginning on page 126.

In prior years the approvals were limited to the HPOs identified for the fiscal year in which the approvals were in effect. In 2012, the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry changed the process and timing for the designation of occupations as HPO, resulting in the list not becoming final until October 1. Due to this change, the EDS approvals are based on the approved HPO lists for both 2012 and 2013. A complete list of Pennsylvania's HPOs may be accessed at www.paworkforce.state.pa.us.

Stipend Approvals

The chart on the next page illustrates the number of programs and noncredit courses approved annually since the implementation of the stipend. It should be noted that PDE did not process stipend approvals for 2012-13. The approvals for 2013-14 include:

- 289 high priority and high instructional cost occupation programs
- 602 high priority occupation programs
- 1,214 noncredit workforce development courses

*EDS approvals were not processed for 2012-13

Credit Programs

In 2013-14, there were a total of 891 community college for-credit programs that prepare students for 101 high priority occupations are approved for stipend funding. The following list includes the ten occupations that have the greatest number of programs approved for high priority and high instructional cost occupation or high priority occupation program stipend funding. These ten occupations account for 35.5 percent, or 316 programs, of the total for-credit programs approved for stipend funding:

Number of Stipend Credit Programs Approved
SOC Code	Occupation	Number of Approved Programs
15-1150	Computer Support Specialists	51
25-2011	Preschool Teachers	45
43-3031	Bookkeeping, Accounting and Audit Clerks	38
19-4021	Biological Technicians	30
29-2071	Medical Records and Health Information Technicians	28
17-3013	Mechanical Drafters	27
43-6014	Secretaries	27
15-1142	Network and Computer Systems Administrators	24
31-9092	Medical Assistants	24
17-3026	Industrial Engineering Technicians	22

Noncredit Courses

Pennsylvania community colleges also provide noncredit opportunities for students and incumbent workers to develop or upgrade skills necessary in high priority occupations. In 2013-14, a total of 1,214 noncredit workforce development courses, associated with 90 high priority occupations, were offered by the colleges and approved for stipend funding. The following list includes the ten occupations that are aligned with the greatest number of noncredit workforce development courses and represent 599 or 49.3 percent of the total noncredit courses approved for stipend funding:

Number of Approved Noncredit Workforce Development Courses
SOC Code	Occupation	Number of Approved Courses
49-9041	Industrial Machinery Mechanics	155
15-1150	Computer Support Specialists	67
31-1012	Nursing Aides, Orderlies and Attendants	64
49-9071	Maintenance and Repair Workers, General	53
43-9061	Office Clerks, General	52
51-4121	Welders, Cutters, Solderers and Brazers	52
29-2071	Medical Records and Health Information Technicians	43
43-6014	Secretaries	41
29-2041	Emergency Medical Technicians and Paramedics	40
49-9021	Heating, A/C and Refrigeration Mechanics and Installers	32

Completers

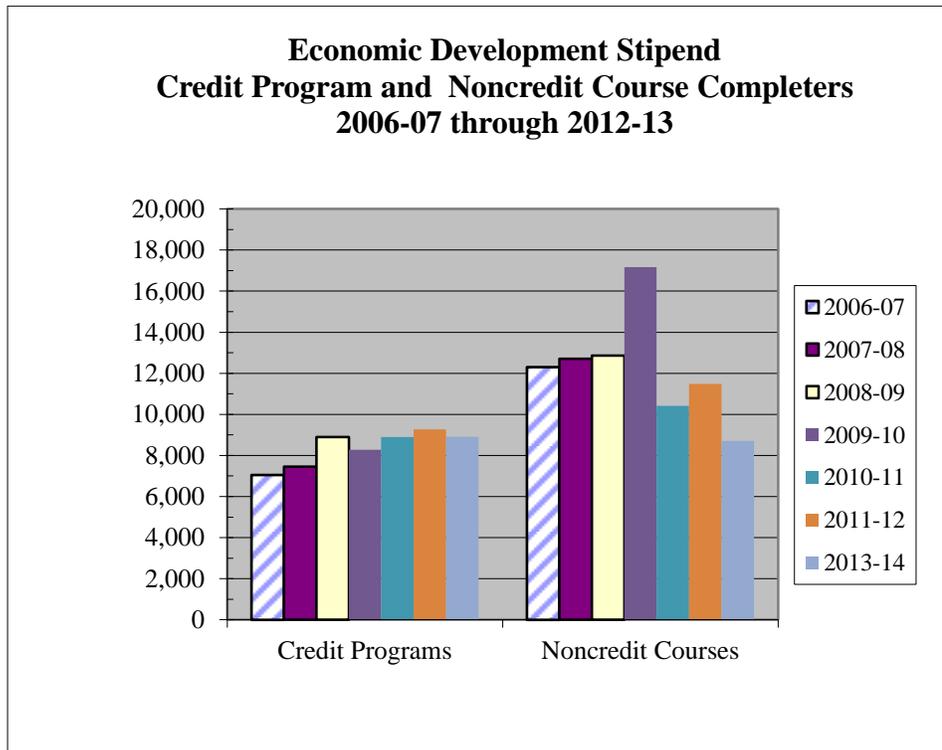

The colleges reported the following data regarding completers in the EDS programs and courses during the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years.¹ The chart on the next page illustrates the number of students who graduated² with an associate degree, certificate or diploma in their credit programs or enrolled³ in noncredit courses during the previous seven fiscal years and includes:

¹ Completer data for 2012-13 utilized the programs and courses approved for stipend funding in 2011-12.

² The completer data is collected at the program level, therefore students completing more than one degree, certificate or diploma would be included in the data multiple times; one for each award received.

³ The number of students enrolled in noncredit courses is collected at the course level; therefore students enrolled in more than one noncredit course will be included multiple times.

- 9,265 students in 2011-12 and 8,912 students in 2012-13 completed an approved high priority and high instructional cost occupation program or a high priority occupation program.
- 11,481 students in 2011-12 and 8,173 students in 2012-13 participated in at least one approved noncredit workforce development course.

Credit Completers

In 2011-12, there were 9,265 students reported completing credit programs with an associate degree, certificate or diploma in a stipend-approved program. There was a decline in 2012-13 with 8,920 completing stipend programs. The Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations area had the most students completing a program, with a total of 2,920 and 2,954 students, respectively. The top five occupational areas, based on the highest number of completers, remained consistent for both years, and are listed below by major SOC group:

Number of Credit Stipend Program Completers
Major SOC Group	Occupation	Number of Completers 2011-12	Number of Completers 2012-13
29-0000	Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations	2,920	2,954
43-0000	Office and Administrative Support Occupations	1,271	1,167
33-0000	Protective Service Occupations	653	674
15-0000	Computer and Mathematical Occupations	615	600
25-0000	Education, Training and Library Occupations	547	560

Noncredit Course Participants

On the noncredit side, 14,240 students participated in an approved noncredit course during 2011-12 and 10,357 participated in 2012-13. The Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations and Healthcare Support Occupations areas had the most students participating in courses during the previous two years. The occupational areas with the highest number of students participating in noncredit workforce development courses, listed by major SOC group for 2011-12 and 2012-13, are as follows:

Number of Noncredit Workforce Development Course Participants (2011-12)
Major SOC Group	Occupation	Number of Participants
29-0000	Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations	6,045
31-0000	Healthcare Support Occupations	3,054
49-0000	Installation, Maintenance and Repair Occupations	1,092
43-0000	Office and Administrative Support Occupations	775
51-0000	Production Occupations	587

Number of Noncredit Workforce Development Course Participants (2012-13)
Major SOC Group	Occupation	Number of Participants
29-0000	Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations	3,465
31-0000	Healthcare Support Occupations	2,575
49-0000	Installation, Maintenance and Repair Occupations	764
43-0000	Office and Administrative Support Occupations	648
33-0000	Protective Service Occupations	551

Criteria for Approval of High Priority Occupation Programs

Criteria

Each program must meet all of the criteria listed in this section.

1. The program must be in compliance with Pennsylvania statutes, regulations and policies relating to community colleges.
2. Each occupational or technical program must prepare graduates for a High Priority Occupation identified by the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry on the annual High Priority Occupation list or be approved by PDE through the PDE Regional Workforce Application.
3. Each program shall be a credit-based program and shall be identified with an accepted Classification of Instructional Program – 2010 edition code.
4. Each program (minimum of 15 credit hours) shall involve a planned coherent sequence of courses that leads to a formal college award.
5. Each program description shall have a statement of objectives that will be printed in the college catalog. The statement must clearly indicate that the program is designed for job placement incorporating employment-related job skills and knowledge, and have an occupational objective that is consistent with gainful employment opportunities (as opposed to volunteer) available at the local, regional or state level.
6. Each program shall be designed in such a way that all college-level requirements, including college-level requirements for admission to the program or for courses within the program, can be completed in two calendar years (24 months) or less when pursued by a full-time student. The program may exceed two calendar years if the program is specifically designed to be completed only on a part-time basis. The catalog description must specifically state that the program is designed for completion on a part-time basis.

Definitions

CIP-2010 – The 2010 edition of the Classification of Instructional Programs, a taxonomic coding scheme of instructional programs published by the U.S. Department of Education. Information on the 2010 CIP codes can be found at: <http://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/>.

High Priority and High Instructional Cost Occupational Program – A program that bears an instructional cost to the community college, per full-time-equivalent student, of at least 130 percent of the average cost per full-time-equivalent student enrolled in the community college's credit courses.

High Priority Occupational Program – For-credit programs approved by PDE to qualify for an Economic Development Stipend and having the specific purpose of providing opportunities for students and incumbent workers to develop or upgrade skills necessary in high priority occupations.

High Priority Occupations – Occupations annually identified by the Department of Labor and Industry through a three step process involving industry cluster analysis, occupational data analysis and expert input and regional factors to identify emerging occupations. Additional occupations may be added based on differences, and dynamics in regional and local labor markets.

Occupation – Occupational title assigned under the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system for the given occupational code. In some instances, this may be abbreviated or changed slightly from the official U.S. Department of Labor's SOC title in order to better reflect nuances in state or regional occupational demand.

Occupational or Technical Program – Educational programs offering a sequence of courses, which are directly related to the preparation of individuals for paid employment in current or emerging occupations.

SOC Code – Six-digit numerical code assigned to the occupation under the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system. The SOC system classifies all occupations found in the economy, including private, public, and military, and allows data to be compared across all governmental agencies. Information on the 2010 SOC system can be found at: <http://www.bls.gov/soc/>.

Criteria for Approval of Noncredit Workforce Development Courses

Criteria

Each Noncredit Workforce Development course must meet all of the following criteria:

1. The course must be in compliance with Pennsylvania statutes, regulations and policies relating to community colleges.
2. The course has the specific purpose of providing opportunities for students and incumbent workers to develop or upgrade skills necessary for high priority occupations and is identified with an accepted occupation and SOC code.
3. Upon successful completion, the course leads to a formal recognition that has established credibility with businesses and other hiring agencies.
4. Each course must be identified with an occupational objective and prepare students for a high priority occupation identified by the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry on the annual high priority occupation list or be approved by PDE through the PDE Regional Workforce Application.
5. The length of the course must encompass a minimum of 30 clock hours and be consistent with occupational industry standards and occupational objectives of the course. Noncredit courses are not intended to be an avenue for avoidance of the approval process or substitution for programs leading to a formal college award. Therefore, no single course may require more than 15 equated credits to be eligible as a Noncredit Workforce Development Course. Courses that meet published industry standards, but exceed the acceptable range in length, will be considered on a course-by-course basis. Published industry standards must accompany the application. (Note: Each 15 hours of classroom work and each 30 hours of laboratory work shall be equated to one semester credit – 22 Pa. Code § 35.61(c))

The following noncredit courses are excluded from consideration for Noncredit Workforce Development course eligibility:

- Adult basic education or adult literacy courses, including English as a Second Language;
- Occupational skills courses that do not meet the criteria as a Noncredit Workforce Development Course;
- Academic courses;
- Continuing professional education courses.

Instructions for Completing the High Instructional Cost Calculation Worksheet

Background and Purpose

A credit program that meets all of the criteria for eligibility as a high priority occupational program may qualify as a high priority and high instructional cost occupational program if it meets the high cost criteria. A program must bear an average instructional cost per equivalent full time student of at least 130 percent of the average cost for all credit courses at the college (excluding courses associated exclusively with high cost programs). The purpose of the calculation is to determine the eligibility of high priority occupational programs for designation as high priority and high instructional cost programs. One equivalent full time student in high priority and high instructional cost programs will be counted as 1.5 equivalent full time student for reimbursement purposes.

Direct Instructional Costs Categories

For purposes of calculating the instructional cost of a potentially high cost program, a community college should include direct instructional expenditures for all activities that are part of the program. Likewise, for purposes of calculating the average instructional cost per student for its for-credit programs, a community college should include the same categories of costs, with the exception that it should exclude costs associated with those courses that are unique to a high cost program, as well as the credit hours produced in high cost programs. For the purposes of the calculation, 2012-13 actual expenditures should be used.

The instructional costs shall include the following categories:

Personnel Compensation

This category includes those costs (salaries, wages and fringe benefits) expended during the fiscal year for full-time and part-time faculty, and other instructional administration and support personnel, including but not limited to teaching assistants, lab assistants, tutors and independently contracted instructors. These costs do not include those costs associated with administrative support personnel or other general administrative personnel.

Instructional Supplies

This category includes classroom and laboratory materials and supplies.

Academic/Instructional Equipment

This category includes the annual depreciable cost of equipment in support of credit instruction.

Equivalent-Full-Time-Student Enrollment

For the purpose of these calculations only, both the Total Annual Credit Hour Production (net of credits generated in high cost programs) and Program Specific Annual Credit Hour Production will be converted to full-time equivalency as follows:

Annual Credit Hour Production divided by 24 = 1 equivalent full time student

For the purpose of the 2013-14 calculation, the annualized 2012-13 actual enrollment will be used.
