

Evaluating Foreign Transcripts

*A Resource Guide for School Districts
Provided by the Pennsylvania Department of Education*

Foreword

This document was adapted from guidance produced by the Office of Youth Development and School-Community Services (OYDSCS) of the New York City Department of Education (DOE). The original document can be found at <http://schools.nyc.gov>.

It is intended as a reference tool for districts to assist school staff members with evaluating foreign transcripts for students newly enrolling from other countries.

When using this manual it is important to keep in mind that several school systems and grading policies might exist within each country, as in the United States. Careful judgment and discretion are advised when utilizing the information presented in this manual. The information provides a general picture of the most commonly used systems in other countries and grading scales, recommended courses, and the equivalent credit within U.S. schools.

Evaluators are advised to:

- Carefully examine all official documents for authenticity.
- Ensure that translations are provided by a qualified source.
- Interview entering students and their parents/guardians.
- Contact the sending school, embassy, Ministry of Education, or other authorized agencies when necessary.

School Responsibility

Schools or districts are responsible for conducting the evaluation of the transcript.

Each school or district should have a well-defined procedure, including the roles and responsibilities of staff members involved, for timely evaluation of transcripts according to guidelines set forth in this manual.

Recommended Practice for Evaluating Transcripts

The following are recommended procedures for evaluating transcripts:

1. Examine official documents for authenticity.
2. Ensure transcripts in a language other than English are translated by a competent translator available within the school or region. In the event there is no available translator, the district may contract for translation with a local translation/interpretation company.

Documents translated by family members should not be accepted as official documents. All translations should be verbatim without interpretation or evaluation of information.
3. Interview the student and parent/guardian to review the transcript and prior studies in order to obtain clarification on curriculum, amount of time spent in each course, grading policies, and other pertinent information helpful to the evaluation process.
4. Determine if content course placement testing is necessary in those cases in which information or achievement is unclear. This is distinct from language proficiency testing for EL program placement.
5. Refer to the Country Index (Section II of this manual) to assist with the conversion of grades to award appropriate course and grade credit.
6. Follow established school procedures for ensuring that transfer credit is updated on the student's official transcript.
7. Establish a procedure for informing the student and parent(s) of the results of the evaluation.
8. Maintain all documentation in the student's official file.
9. Notify and consult with receiving teachers and department supervisors or heads for academic content course placements and award of academic credits based on transcript review. Coordinate with the EL director to ensure proper EL program placement and also to ensure that all content teachers are aware of EL needs.
10. Ensure the evaluation process is completed in a timely manner.

Transfer Credit

Transfer credits for a high school student transferring from another state or another country are awarded by the receiving district for work done outside the high school awarding the credit based on the review of their transcripts. PA Code Title 22 Chapter 4.23. High school education outlines the requirements for programs of instruction leading to graduation.

- (a) Instruction in the high school program must focus on the development of abilities needed to succeed in work and advanced education through planned instruction.
- (b) Curriculum and instruction in the high school must be standards-based and provide all students opportunities to develop the skills of analysis, synthesis, evaluation and problem-solving and information literacy.
- (c) Planned instruction aligned with academic standards in the following areas shall be provided to every student in the high school program. Planned instruction may be provided as a separate course or as an instructional unit within a course or other interdisciplinary instructional activity:
  - (1) Language arts, integrating reading, writing, listening, speaking, literature and grammar.
  - (2) Mathematics, including problem-solving, mathematical reasoning, algebra, geometry and concepts of calculus.
  - (3) Science and technology, including participation in hands-on experiments and at least one laboratory science chosen from life sciences, earth and space sciences, chemical sciences, physical sciences and agricultural sciences.
  - (4) Social studies (civics and government, economics, geography and history, including the history and cultures of the United States, the Commonwealth and the world).
  - (5) Environment and ecology, including scientific, social, political and economic aspects of ecology.
  - (6) The arts, including art, music, dance, theatre and humanities.
  - (7) Use of applications of microcomputers and software, including word processing, database, spreadsheets and telecommunications; and information skills, including access to traditional and electronic information sources, computer use and research.
  - (8) Health, safety and physical education, including instruction in concepts and skills which affect personal, family and community health and safety, nutrition, physical fitness, movement concepts, motor skill development, safety in physical activity settings, and the prevention of alcohol, chemical and tobacco abuse.
  - (9) Family and consumer science, including principles of consumer behavior and basic knowledge of child health, child care and early literacy skill development.
- (d) The following planned instruction shall be made available to every student in the high school program:
  - (1) Vocational-technical education under §§ 4.3 and 4.31—4.35.
  - (2) Business education, including courses to assist students in developing business and information technology skills.
  - (3) World languages under § 4.25 (relating to languages).
  - (4) Technology education, incorporating technological problem-solving and the impacts of technology on individuals and society.
- (e) College-level advanced placement courses may be offered as planned instruction in the high school curriculum.

- (f) This section does not preclude the teaching of other planned instruction designed to achieve a school district's, including a charter school's academic standards.
- (g) School districts, including a charter school, shall determine the most appropriate way to operate their high school programs to achieve the purposes under subsection (a) and any additional academic standards as determined by the school entity.

The appropriate school personnel should evaluate the transcript or other records of a transfer student enrolling in their school. Based on the student's transcript or other records, the district should award the appropriate units of transfer credit towards a high school diploma.

The decision to award transfer credit for work done at educational institutions other than Pennsylvania registered high schools shall be based on whether the record indicates that the work is consistent with the district's and state's standards and is of comparable scope and quality to that which would have been done in the school awarding the credit.

An example of this process:

A student arrives from Columbia in tenth grade. In reviewing her transcript, the guidance counselor notices that she has completed two English courses with passing grades. The guidance counselor interviews the student to determine the content of the courses because no other information is available. The counselor determines, with input from the EL coordinator, that the courses taken by the student only covered interpersonal communicative English. The counselor does NOT award English language arts credit, though, because the ELA courses at the high school are aligned to state standards that require mastery of academic English related to, among other things, literature (theme, complex character development, text structure, etc.) and informational text (development of ideas/claims, evaluation of arguments, point of view, etc.). There is no evidence that the English courses taken by this student covered these standards. To be thorough, the counselor administers a ninth grade end of course ELA exam to this student to see if she has the skills required by the standards. The student does not meet the minimum score requirement, so the counselor awards her two foreign language credits for the English classes that she took in Columbia instead, since those courses very closely match foreign language course standards utilized in the district.

This process must be followed for the award of credit for all courses taken at schools outside of the state.

Tracking

A tracking system is in effect. Elementary school ranges from grades 1 to 7, at the end of which pupils take the entrance examination to the secondary school. Those students above 12 years of age who are not admitted to the government secondary schools may go to private school. Class 7 pupils in the elementary schools, as well as Form 5 students in the secondary schools, have extension classes in the evenings to prepare them for terminal exams and entrance exams to the next level of the educational system.

Compulsory Education: Ages 5-6 to 15-17

Adult Literacy Rate: 99%

School Year: The school year is from September to June. Annualization, semesters, and trimesters all exist depending on the province and school. The education policy is a provincial responsibility and the period of compulsory education varies.

Tracking

Canada does not have a federal educational system. The responsibility for education is vested in the provinces; therefore, there are many different sets of standards. In general, high school programs consist of two streams. The first prepares the student for university; the second prepares the student for post-secondary education at community college or for the workplace. There are also special programs for students unable to complete the conventional courses of study. In some schools these decisions are based on examinations.

Compulsory Education: Ages 7 to 15/16, Grades 1 through 9

Adult Literacy Rate: 70%

School Year: The length of the school year is roughly the same in China, Taiwan and Hong Kong. The fall term runs from September to January; the spring term runs from March to July. Winter recess is in February; summer vacation is in July and August. Elementary school students usually stay in the same room with the same teacher(s) all day long. Students in junior and senior high schools have to report to their homeroom for 30 minutes to one hour to study while the teacher takes attendance. Students attend school from Monday through Saturday. Seniors must return to school on Sunday morning to study. In elementary school the school day runs from 7:30 AM to 11:30 AM, followed by a lunch break, and then schools run from 2:00 PM to 4:00 PM. In junior and senior high schools the school day runs from 7:00 AM to 11:30 AM, followed by a lunch break, and then school run from 2:00 PM to 5:00 PM.

School Year: There are 200 days of school per year over 40 weeks, but there are many school holidays. There are two school calendars used in Colombia: Calendar A is used in most of the country. School runs from February 1 to June 15. Vacation is from June 15 to July 15. School continues from July 16 to November 30, and there is another vacation in December and January. Calendar B is used in the southwest part of the country. School runs from September 1 to December 15. There is a vacation from December 16 to January 15, and school resumes on January 16, continuing through June 30. There is vacation in July and August. School runs five days a week, Monday through Friday. The school day consists of a mandated six hours. There are two sessions, each of three periods (45 minutes in duration) with a lunch period in between. In much of the country there are two shifts due to the large school-age population: morning shift runs from 6:50 AM to 12:40 PM and an afternoon shift from 12:50 PM to 6:40 PM.

There is a one month summer vacation, usually between July and August. There are also two weeks off for the New Year. Spring vacation comes after the annual examination. At the end of the school year there is a two-week break before the next year begins. Primary schools usually run classes only in the morning. Secondary schools, mostly grades 11-13, have classes both in the morning and afternoon. Students attend classes five days a week and two Saturdays a month.

Compulsory Education: Grade 6 in Traditional System, Grade 9 in Reform System
 Primary: 6 years (Traditional), 9 years (Reform) Secondary: 5-7 years (Traditional), 3 years (Reform)

Adult Literacy Rate: 53%

School Year: The school year runs from October to mid-July when promotional examinations are given. Primary school lasts for six years. Students stay with the same teachers five days a week, Monday through Friday. There are two parallel systems of education in Haiti. In the traditional system the secondary program is offered in four streams: A– Latin and Greek; B–Latin, languages and literature; C–mathematics and physical sciences; D– mathematics and natural sciences. The Reform system, which is now being implemented in large cities, is similar to the United States' system. At present, both systems are in operation. It is also important to note that in rural areas many students do not have opportunities for secondary education.

Promotion from one grade to the next is automatic if students meet minimum requirements. After seven years of school, the student must take the common entrance exam in order to determine placement in secondary school. After the completion of the last year of junior secondary school, the student must take the common Middle School Examination. For some, this is the end of their formal education. Others are allowed to continue their education for two more years, thus earning a diploma of completion.

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO

Compulsory Education: Ages 5 to12, Grades 1 through 6.

Adult Literacy Rate: 98%

School Year: The school year is divided into trimesters, from August to May, five days per week. Many schools are administered jointly by the state and religious bodies so schools are closed for many holidays. There are two types of secondary education. The traditional system consists of five years of secondary school while the new system provides three years of junior secondary school and two years of senior secondary school. Five years of study in either system qualifies the student to sit for the National Exam or the CXC exam. Students must pass one of these exams to be awarded their high school diploma. The passing of the CXC is needed to enter pre-university level.

Huge discrepancies exist between rural and urban, private, boarding and public schools. "Group A" schools are more rigorous academically and have greater resources. In Group A schools, students study English beginning in the first grade; in other schools, the study of English begins in the 4th grade. Placement into primary schools is based upon ability to pay.

Placement into secondary schools is based on the grades earned on the four required primary school national examinations, as well as the ability to pay. Based on the Form I and Form II reports, students are assigned to courses and tracked classes for their O Level programs. Only students who receive sufficient scores on their CSE (Forms III and IV) exams are accepted into A Level programs to study science, business or the arts. Most students end their formal education at the end of Form IV.

It is important to note that secondary schools do not usually produce transcripts for their students. Students receive informal, handwritten school reports twice a year. Also, teachers often downgrade all student reports the term before exams as a motivator for them to work harder. The O and A Level certificates are considered the official academic qualifications, as opposed to a school-generated report. The exam results are certified and stamped by the Head Master, the Minister of Education or the United States Embassy.
